RELOW IS THE SCORE

OF THOSE IN THE RACE FOR THE FREE TRIPS TO CHICAGO.

Only Two Weeks More Before the Contest is Decided, and Three Happy Teachers Will be Ready to Go.

The time draws near when the great contest for the Times' liberal World's Pair offer comes to a close, and the race between several of the candidates is growing interesting to the old folks and highly exciting to hundred of school children, who are anxious to see their favorite teachers off for the Western

Only two weeks from to-day, and the entest will be decided. Three teachers from Richmond and Manchester will they have a free return ticket and the is little sum of fifty dollars each, with ers from the four quarters of the globe. It will be seen by the score that Miss dibson still maintains her place the lead among the contestants west Ninth street by more than 2,000 votes, while Madame Teusier comes second, and Mr. John H. Powell third. In the district of Ninth street the race is a close between Miss Alice Budd and Mr. rise R. Pace, the former being some votes ahead, while Miss Juliet Snotgines stands third. Mr. A. H. Fitzgerald leads the race in Manchester by nearly

and Miss Minnie Vaden third.

JUSTICE JOHN'S COURT.

His Honor Was in a Glorious State of Hilarliy at the Temple. An ideal spring day, when the birds flitted among the fresh, green sprigs of the tree boughs, and Old Sol came out with all the splendor of an approaching May morning, was quite an inducement to bring to the Temple of Justice another large audience to view with rapt attention the facial expressions of thes, who had failen by the wayside, when His lioner, who is no respecter of persons, tacked on the fines and other penalties with his usual naivete.

with his usual naivete. 5:30 o'clock quite a large crowd at the main entrance, and ere the proceedings were half over the from bore a close resemblance to the big armory half the night before, when navigation was attended by that degree of difficulty characteristic of a suffocat-ing swarm clamoring for space in which to deposit their anatomical frames. In short, it was a push, and many falled to prove their American tendencies by not being in it.

The Justice was in one of those hilarious humors only exceeded by the younger members of the University Alumni So-ciety, who attended the Commonwealth Club the night before, and, after re-viving and imbibing pleasant recoilections in the recition room, where a big table was graced by "a bowl of Bacchus lying," proceeded to do justice to the occasion by allowing both wit and wine to flow as freely as the eloquence of the speakers, occasionally breaking in upon the speakers, occasionally breaking in upon the climax of oratory by remarks laden with the fragrance of sparkling liquids from the vicinity of the picturesque Rhine. He sprung a few pungent witti-cisms upon his hearers, and echoes from the direction of the peanut department, where labials as thick as big molasses cakes were adorned with rows of pearly teeth and surrounded by dark-complexioned physiognomies lit up with smiles of the voluminous order, ocasionally re-

After everything was settled, and the cards were dealt, those who entered the game got down to a stendy thing. Two young American citizens of African descent anted up the coveted chips with a courage born of hope. Arthur Morris and Frick Mosby were the names, and they proved their warlike tendencies by continuous and the continuous conti casting stones at the domains of one Lizzte Norell. Arthur lost the bet, and, in default of security, went to the city reformatory for ninety days, while the ther coon paid the $2.50 fine, and went on his way rejoicing.

Dallas Tinsley (colored) sauntered around to Sixth Mount Zion Baptist church, and proceeded to disturb religious worship. At the sauctuary the members of the congregation were carrying on a prayer-meeting, and Dallas, entering from the rear, proved a serious disadvantage to the service. He was consequently touched for $2.50 for departing from the

to the service. He was consequently touched for $2.50 for departing from the Jeffersonian idea of religious freedom.

Charles Harris (colored) came in on a charge of striking with a fock Herbert Conway. The Justice believes in deciding personal difficulties by a hand to hand set-to, and Charles was accordingly sent to the jug for ninety days in default of security.

It was with some degree of disappointment that Rosa Hobson (colored) viewed the loss of her chips, when the Justice held a queen full, and touched her for something like $3 for severing portions of Alexander Tunstall's physique with a knife, and Tunstall lit into the female warrior and beat her $2.50 worth.

Thomas Jones, a small speciment of African citizenship, entered in the day-time the vacant house, No. 113 south Pine street, and "swiped" a let of lead pipe, the property of J. T. Goddin, agent. The evidence was dead aginst the youthful thief, and he was sent to the hustings court.

Little of all we value here, Which wakes on the morn of its hundredth year. Vithout both feeling and looking queer." Without both feeling and lookeds, And W. L. King, an ex-Confederate soldier from Georgia, both felt and looked queer when he came to the sanctum on a charge of having taken too much. He might have been a good soldier; all the Confederates were; and think how many colonels and generals the war made out of green privates. But no man can conquer the red-eyed demon that sends so many thousands of souls to perditon. The veteran overrated his powers as a soldier, and tackled the liquid with a vengeance. He was forced to surrender, however, and his jax was one of complete dimensions. He was touched for the usual amount, as was also A. J. Nott, Mary O'Neil and Daniel Brooks, after which the game was postpened till tomorrow, when it will cost only fifty cents to come in. nd W. L. King, an ex-Confederate sol-

Quite a large crowd assembled in the hustings court yesterday to witness the trial of several parties charged with allowing unlawful gaming to proceed on their premises. Judge John H. Ingram was on the bench, and the case of the Commonwealth against R. L. Jones, charged with permitting unlawful gaming to be conducted in a room appurtenant to his bar, which was begun on Friday.

was resumed. The Court instructed the jury to find The Court instructed the jury to find for the defendant, there being no evidence to show that Jones was the keeper of an ordinary, or house of entertainment. The court held the terms "ordinary" and "house of entertainment" in the statute under which the indictment in this case was found to be synonymous, saying that an ordinary is a place where lodging and diet are furnished to travelers, sojourners, or boarders, as well as where wine, spirituous or malt liquors are sold by retail, to be drunk at the place of sale; and one who conducts such a place is deemed to be a keeper of an ordinary, or house of entertainment. ordinary, or house of entertainment. In about three weeks five men will be elected for places in the Manchester city council. In the First ward the race will probably be between Mr. E. T. Morris, the present incumbent, and Mr. F. H. Fitzgerald. The latter gentleman is highly indorsed for the position, while Mr. Morris has his previous record to support him in the contest. Mr. Matthew P. Morton has stated that he will not be a canditon has stated that he will not be a candidate for re-election in the Second ward, and Colonel Arthur G. Since the Fisher party bought the road for $400,000 in 5 per cent, bonds they have spent considerable money in improvements and have promptly settled all bills for work and supplies furnished since February 20th. If there is a foreclosure a complication will arise relative to the money spent by the new owners.

Rev. for. Kerr will deliver a lecture on his travels in the East for the benefit of the Methodist church at Leader Hall on the evening of May 5th.

Star of Hope Lodge, Good Templars, at a meeting Thursday night, elected the following officers: Chief Templar, George Fitzgerald; Vice-Templar, Miss Birdie Oliver; Chaplain, T. H. Smith; Secretary, L. P. Jones, Assistant Secretary, Miss George McCulloch; Financial Secretary, Henry Smith; Treasurar, Miss. Rosa McCulloch; Marshal, W. P. Constable; Guard, Miss Carrie Jones; Sentinel, W. W. Craig: Organist, Mrs. W. P. Constable: Chorister, T. H. Smith.

The above officers will be installed next Thursday night.
A special sermon will be preached to the members of Star of Hope Lodge, Good Templars, at Fifth-street church, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, by Rev. McDaniel Rucker.

Mr. James Blankingship, the artist, will Mr. James Blankingship, the artist, will deliver a lecture at an early date in Leader Hall, and the discourse will be illustrated by stereopticon views of scenes at the World's Fair. Mr. Blankingship made the head for one of the immense statues at the World's Fair. This piece measured fifteen feet from the chin to the top of the head. The artist was a former resident of Manchester, and this fact will create a special interest in his fact will create a special interest in his illustrated lecture. The whereabouts of H. C. A Nice Compliment. A Nice Compliment.

On Thursday evening, the 27th instant, Mr. John A. Moore gave an entertainment at his father's residence, west Main street, to Misses Hattle and Emma Freeman, of Providence, R. I. The occasion was much enjoyed by many friends of Mr. Moore and the young ladies. The feature of the evening was the music furnished as a compliment to Mr. Moore by the Richmond Banjo, Guitar and Mandolin Club, under the directorship of dolin Club, under the directorship Professor W. P. Dabney, assisted R. Emmett Harris, the violinist, T club consists of twenty members, representing the best talent of colored musicians in the city, and their excellent performance reflected great credit on the training of Professor Dabney.
